KING'S HOME RULE PEACE PLAN FAILS

2 FIGURE WEBSTER ALTITUDE

A SCALE for estimating the altitude reached by Clifford Webster in his flight tomorrow, with directions for using it, and other information regarding Webster's great flight will be found on Page 6 of today's AMERICAN.

THE AMERICAN has today an amazing announcement to make. This announcement is vital to every one of the 20,000 people who last Sunday, at Beverly Beach, saw Clifford Webster in his Burgess-Dunlop plane make that magnificent flight for altitude.

The judges in that contest, when they opened the sealed barograph carried on the flight and compared it with the estimates of Webster's altitude sent in by thousands of readers of the AMERICAN discovered that:

TWO OF THE ESTIMATES WERE EXACTLY CORRECT.

This is a magnificent tribute, not only to the scientific accuracy of the altitude measuring scale printed in last Sunday's AMERICAN, but also to the keen eyes of the contestants who watched Webster at Beverly Beach.

The award for the nearest correct estimate of Webster's altitude was $100. BUT LISTEN:

TO SHOW THE APPRECIATION OF THE INTEREST OF THE THOUSANDS OF READERS, AND TO RECOGNIZE THE SKILL, WITH WHICH THESE TWO CONTESTANTS USED THE SCALE PRINTED IN SUNDAY'S AMERICAN, IT HAS BEEN DETERMINED TO GIVE EACH OF THE TWO CONTESTANTS WHO CORRECTLY ESTIMATED THE ALTITUDE $100.

Thus there are two awards of $100, instead of one. The winners—especially the two who made exactly correct estimates—will find their names in Sunday's AMERICAN. And not only that, but in the Sunday AMERICAN the two winners will tell just exactly how they were able correctly to measure the surprising altitude by means of the scale in the AMERICAN.

REPRODUCED BY WILEY.

Now, that scale is reproduced today, with directions for its use, in order that you may take it with you to Saturday's tomorrow afternoon.

Saturday afternoon when Webster will again make an altitude flight.

The AMERICAN, to encourage the study of aviation, has arranged that flight as it attracted the others in the remarkable race this time, was a host of "air fans" in Greater Boston.

Take the scale from today's AMERICAN, with the instructions for its use, to Nantuxet, tomorrow, to lunch at Parson Park, or the Nantuxet Hotel, or the Hotel, or the Nantuxet Restaurant. Go early enough for a visit to the old Mill and the other amusement resorts. Then watch Webster's altitude flight in the afternoon, estimate his altitude with the scale and the directions printed today, read the rules of this altitude contest, which are also printed today, and the best estimate will receive a $10 reward, while the runner-up will receive $5.

CALL TO ARMS IN WULSTER

By HERBERT TEMPLE.

LONDON, July 24.—King George's efforts to bring peace in the home rule warfare and avert civil war in Ireland have failed.

Premier Asquith announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that the political leaders who participated in the four conferences at Buckingham Palace had been unable to agree on the area to be excluded from the operation of the home rule bill.

Orders for the mobilization of the Ulster volunteers are reported to have been issued to Ireland as soon as the Premier made the announcement that brought the greatest crisis that has yet developed.

No hope of further peace negotiations was held out by the Premier. He stated that the conference had been concluded, thus confirming the belief that prevailed when today's meeting of the conference adjourned.

The gathering of the House was filled when the Premier arose and practically every member was in his seat. The Premier went directly from a Cabinet meeting to the House, his wife and daughter accompanying him.

AMENDING BILL, TUESDAY.

Premier Asquith announced that the conference had held four meetings at Buckingham Palace for the purpose of defining the area to be excluded from the home rule bill, but that the conference had been unable to agree on either in principle or in the details.

The Premier declined to state the exact differences which existed. He added that the date of calling up the amending home rule bill had been set for Tuesday, A. Bonar Law, the opposition leader, agreed to the date, and asked that action be taken soon as possible.

CHIEFS FOR LEADERS.

A larger crowd than usual surrounded Buckingham Palace when today's conference began. John E. Heilmann was a half hour late, causing a report that he had refused to participate further, but when he arrived he explained that he had made a mistake as to the time of the meeting.

As soon as he reached the palace the conference went into session, but this was terminated at 12:15 p. m. A few minutes later Premier Asquith and Chancellor Lloyd George, representatives of the government, left the palace with Heilmann and John Dillon, the Irish Nationalists. The two cabinet ministers were widely cheered.

The police guard was reconstituted at the palace today in anticipation of a suffrage day demonstration, but there was no disorder while the conference was in session. When the Premier left he walked through a line of people to his automobile.

Just as Carson, Lowther and Law left the palace, Lady Berkeley and Miss Edith Fitzgerald, suffragette leaders, arrived, bearing a beribboned scroll. This was a petition from Mrs. Humphrey Parkhurst to King George, asking that he call a conference of the political leaders to consider suffrage for women. The women were refused admittance to the palace and left. Contrary to the usual suffragette custom, they made no threats as they departed.

LABOURI HURLS CAILLAUX LETTERS AT CHENU'S HEAD

PARIS, July 24.—The question of reading in open court the private letters of Joseph Caillaux, produced yesterday by Mme. Berthe Gueydan, first wife of the former premier, today caused a tumultuous scene at the trial of Henriette Caillaux for the murder of Gaston Calmette, editor of Le Figaro.

Maitre Labori and Maitre Chenu began arguments as to how many of Mme. Gueydan's five letters should be read. Labori insisted that only two were important enough to be read. "The other three are irrelevant," said Labori.

"I contend that all five have a direct bearing upon the issues at stake," shouted Chenu. Judge Allouet and his four associates seemed to be out of it. "As a gentleman you must certainly realize that there are three of these letters which should not be read," declared Labori.

"Revelation of the contents of these three epistles in question would be exceedingly painful to all concerned." Labori turned to Mme. Caillaux, who sat pale and haggard, listening in a listless manner to the arguments. "Do you object to the reading of all five letters?" asked the lawyer.

Mme. Caillaux nodded her head in the negative. Immediately Labori handed the packet toward Chenu, but before the latter Labori could grasp the letters Mme. Caillaux sprang from her chair with outstretched hands in an effort to seize the documents. She was two late.

"I see that my client does object to the publication of these letters," declared Labori.

Mme. Berthe Gueydan, first wife of Joseph Caillaux, who confounded the counsel for Mme. Caillaux by her remarkable narrative on the stand at the Paris trial.

REVEAL SECRET THREAT OF DEATH TO ADA TAYLOR

Ada Taylor, the nurse whose body was found on Winthrop Beach ten days ago, lived in deadly fear of a certain man, according to the story told the police by Frederick Wilson, her intimate friend, it was learned today.

Wilson told his story in detail and the police at once sent out a general alarm for the arrest of a man named by Wilson.

ELOPER MUST STAND TRIAL FOR ABDUCTION

Louis Elman, the chauffeur who eloped with Fern Hallan, the pretty daughter of Joseph A. Hallan, his employer, was held today for the Grand Jury by Judge Kelly in the Birmingham court, under $1,000 bonds.

Wilson says Ada Taylor was married, that she feared a certain man for his jealousy, and that she wrote him, Wilson, telling of this fear. These letters, it is said, show she knew her life was in danger. She told Wilson: "If anything happens to me you'll know who is guilty."

Wilson has seen the man she named since her death.

Many phases of the Taylor woman's checkered career have been explained by Wilson. Part of his story has been covered by detectives working on the case and the remainder is expected to be made certain today. The photograph of the man found in Miss Taylor's trunk is reported to have been identified and Taylor told the police where he believed Miss Taylor's missing suit case will be found.

The evidence furnished by Wilson left no doubt in the minds of the police that Ada Taylor was alone and they are confident they know the slayer. He is said to be a Boston man and the police are trying to find someone who saw him on or near the beach at Ocean Spray, Winthrop, on the night previous to the finding of Ada Taylor's body.

The motive of the crime is still a problem. But is expected to be revealed by the contents of the dead woman's suit case. The police believe they may be able to write a confession from the suspect after he is captured. This is the result of other startling developments in the case, growing out of the substantiation of Wilson's story.

Wilson's information was volunteered here. The operation is said to have been successful.

WEBSTER FLIGHT TOMORROW, CLIP COUPONS TODAY!

SCALE for estimating Webster's altitude. Take it with you tomorrow.

CUT EVENLY ALONG THE DOTTED LINE

How to Use Altitude Estimating Scale at Great Webster Flight

First, cut evenly along the dotted line at the top of the scale, under the words: "Cut Evenly Along the Dotted Line."

Study the scale. Note that it runs downward, is graduated, and that the graduations are marked from 100 to 3,000. These figures represent feet.

Note the two perpendicular lines at the top, with a tiny drawn figure of an aeroplane between them.

Hold, roll, or cut the AMERICAN so that you can hold the scale strictly perpendicular before you. Now watch for the aeroplane in the air to head squarely toward you or squarely away from you.

When the aeroplane in the air is in this position, sight over the top of the scale, and over the tiny drawn aeroplane, at the machine in the air.

Move the scale back and forth till the aeroplane in the air is exactly the size of the aeroplane on the paper; that is, until the two short upright lines on each side of the drawn aeroplane just touch the wings of the aeroplane in the air.

When you have done this, run your eye swiftly down the scale to the point where the horizon line of the sea comes. Set your finger on this point on the scale.

Suppose this point is half way between 2,000 and 2,100. Then the aeroplane is 2,050 feet in the air. Suppose the point on the scale is a third of the way from 2,600 to 2,700. Then the aeroplane is about 2,630 feet in the air.

Thus the altitude of the plane is automatically measured. All you need do is sight at the plane in the air, the note where the horizon comes on the scale. A skilled observer can estimate the height within a few feet. How close can YOU come?

HOW TO JUDGE TIME BETWEEN TWO POINTS

Three things must be considered: Webster's speed, the wind, and the distance he flies.

1.—Webster's speed. This is practically constant. The Burgess-Dunne plane, equipped with Curtiss, eight-cylinder, 100-horsepower engine, makes an average speed of about sixty-five miles an hour. A damp, wet, or foggy day is apt to slow this a trifle. A dry, clear day may increase his speed a little. So allow for the weather in estimating his speed.

2.—The wind is so important. Its direction is important, and its velocity is important. Weather experts say that Sunday afternoon we may expect an east or northeast wind, and a velocity of ten to fifteen miles an hour.

To figure the effect of the wind, you must compare its direction with the direction of Webster's flight. Now Webster's flight, figuring on an air-line, and allowing nothing for delays, for turns and such maneuvers will follow a course approximately as follows:

From Marblehead, three and one-half miles south of southwest to Swampscott; then two miles almost due west to Lynn Beach; then five miles a little east of south to Bass Point; then two miles due west to Revere Beach; then about eight to nine miles almost due south to Wollaston Beach; then about eight miles due east to Nantasket and Paragon Park.

In estimating the time it will take him to make any portion of the flight, consider his direction, his speed, wind direction, and wind velocity. If the wind is behind him it will add to his speed. A ten-mile wind will add a little less than ten miles to his speed. If he is ahead of him it will detract from his speed. A ten-mile wind will cut ten miles off his speed. If it is on his beam—that is, if he flies straight across the wind, he must fight to keep on his course, and this will slow him

The altitude estimating contest is one of the features of Webster's flight tomorrow. The most interesting and novel feature of the flight is a new Webster's scale. Webster will arise in his plane from Marblehead, and fly over the following points in order: Swampscott Beach, Lynn Beach, Bass Point, Wollaston Beach, Revere Beach, Wollaston Yacht Club at Wollaston, State Bath House at Wollaston, Strand Pier at Hough's Neck, Paragon Park tower at Nantasket.

TWO ESTIMATES.

The contest is to estimate the time it will take Webster to cover the distance from Marblehead to any one of the intervening points, and also from Marblehead to Nantasket.

Thus there are two time estimates to make, and THIS is important.

Webster's time must be estimated IN ADVANCE.

In today's AMERICAN is printed a coupon. On this coupon or a copy of it, make out your estimate of Webster's probable time of flight over the given distances. Send this coupon or copy to the AMERICAN Promotion

RULES OF CONTEST IN JUDGING TRIP'S SPEED

1.—Contestants must estimate (a) the time it will take Webster to fly from Marblehead to any one of the following points: Centre of Bass Point Swampscott; both house at Lynn Beach; State Bath House at Hough's Neck; Wollaston Yacht Club at Wollaston Beach; or the standpoint at Hough's Neck; and must also estimate (b) the time it will take Webster to fly from Marblehead to Paragon Park, Nantasket.

2.—Webster will keep his own time record. His record will be considered as final for purposes of this contest.

3.—Contestants may write their estimates on coupons from the daily AMERICAN, or copies of those coupons. They may enter as many estimates as they wish, but each coupon or copy shall be considered individually.

4.—Contestants must send or bring their estimates BEFORE 8 o'clock Saturday afternoon, July 25, to the AMERICAN Promotion Department, No. 5 Wintthrop square. All estimates must be RECEIVED before that time.

5.—The list of winners will be printed in Sunday's AMERICAN, July 26. The decision of the judges shall be final.

6.—If two or more contestants are tied for award, the award shall be divided among them.

7.—The awards are as follows: For the nearest correct estimate, $10. For the next nearest, $5. For the third, $3. For the fourth, $1. For the next ten, $1 each.

8.—If two or more contestants are tied for award, the award shall be divided among them.

9.—The awards are as follows: For the nearest correct estimate, $10. For the next nearest, $5. For the third, $3. For the fourth, $1. For the next ten, $1 each.

10.—If two or more contestants are tied for award, the award shall be divided among them.

ANOTHER AEROPLANE FLIGHT

More Cash Awards FOR AMERICAN READERS

On Saturday afternoon, July 25, weather permitting, or, in case of bad weather, on Sunday, Webster will make another startling flight in the great Burgess-Dunne seaplane. He will fly from Marblehead to Paragon Park, Nantasket, by way of Swampscott, Lynn Beach, Bass Point, Revere Beach, Wollaston Beach and Hough's Neck. He will make this trip without stop and as fast as he can.

Here is the way you can win another cash money award.

The airline distances between these points and all the available facts about the speed of the great flying machine are given in another column of this paper.

With these facts you can figure out with mathematical certainty how long it will take Webster to make the flight or any part of it.

Put down your careful estimate of the number of minutes and seconds Webster will take to fly from Marblehead to any of the given points in his route and also the time he will take from Marblehead to his landing on the water at Paragon Park, Nantasket.

The person sending in the nearest correct answer will

WIN $50 IN GOLD

Many other cash money awards will be given.

This coupon, or a copy of it, with your name and address, must reach the Boston AMERICAN office not later than 3 P. M. Saturday.

Make one estimate of the time from Marblehead to any one of the six intermediate points and timing stations on the route, and another estimate of the time of the whole trip from Marblehead to Paragon Park, Nantasket.

COUPON

I estimate that it will take Webster minutes, seconds, to fly from Marblehead to and minutes, seconds, to fly from Marblehead to Paragon Park, Nantasket.

CALLAUX TRIAL A DUEL OF POLITICS

allow Callaux to pursue the three letters in dispute and to consult with his associates.

THE ROCHEFFE AFFAIR.

London time was now long past, but the spectators refused to leave their seats for fear they would not be able to get them again. The more thoughtful produced boxes of food and bottles of wine and ate in their seats. Up to this time allusions had been made half a dozen times to the "Rocheffe matter."

This pertained to the case of Henri Rocheffe, a swindling banker and promoter, who was arrested after he had swindled the public of many millions of dollars.

Callaux used his influence to have Public Prosecutor Victor Fabre postpone Rocheffe's trial. In the meantime Rocheffe managed to get his release on bail and then he disappeared. He is supposed to be in Mexico.

In some unexplained manner Fabre was again in possession of all the letters when the record ended. The lawyer held out the letters to Miss Guelman when court resumed and said:

"I do not know, madame, whether you tried to trap me yesterday. I wasn't anticipating that trap might have been laid. I have now the honor to return your letters."

Miss Guelman grew hot with rage, she stood up and shouted her protest. "I won't take them back," she shrieked. "They must be read in this court."

Judge Albasol interrupted with something words which had no effect.

Thereupon Fabre grew angry and hurled the letters at Callaux's head. Callaux caught them and placed them in a portfolio, saying that he would probably have use for them later.

Attacks of Le Figaro staff of writers were called to the stand afterward several times.

TRIAL MAY END TUESDAY.

It is believed that the trial will come to an end on Tuesday. A session of court may be held Sunday, but that question had not been decided definitely up to a late hour.

The effect of the trial is falling deeply upon Miss Callaux. Her face is lined and at times she appears absolutely nerve stricken as she clasps and unclasp her hands.

Anyone watching her frightened face today would have wondered how she mustered up sufficient courage to commit murder.

BARTHOUS RESUMES STAND.

Louis Barthou, former Premier of France, took the stand to continue the story he started yesterday. A new name a tempest of politics during which the shouts of Callaux's political past stood naked in the gaze of the spectators.

Barthou had made some remark derogatory to the political honor of Callaux, when Pascal Cossadi, a member of the Chamber of Deputies and friend of Callaux, leaped to his feet. An acrimonious verbal and followed.

The spectators catching the excitement of the lively encounter, took sides and cheered, according to their sentiments. M. Barthou, looking at temper, waved his arms and shrieked, bespeaking vituperation upon the head of the former minister, M. Callaux.

The spectators were dumfounded at first, scarcely believing their eyes, so strange was the spectacle of one of France's foremost statesmen in a childish tantrum before a crowded courtroom. Jumping to his feet, now waving his arms, his face red from the exertions of his shouts and his words stained with the billingsgate of the streets.

YOU LIE! SAYS CALLAUX.

Barthou left the witness box, but immediately the uproar began again. M. Cossadi let drop some further remarks which enraged Barthou.

"You lie," shrieked the former Premier. "I hope I will have the opportunity of re-entering the witness box to prove it. I will refute your accusations."

The words were resumed while Miss Callaux sat quietly in her chair completely overpowered.

M. Cossadi gave the first testimony of the day hearing directly upon the tragedy. In reply to questions from the court, he told the following story:

"Mrs. Callaux frequently endeavored to have her husband give up politics, but the lure of public life was too strong."

"Mrs. Callaux became much perturbed when she learned that Le Figaro had private letters bearing upon M. Callaux's political career and her own intimate relations with him. When she heard these were to be published she was distracted. On the day of the murder M. Callaux asked me to go to his home and calm his wife. I was detained at the Chamber of Deputies until it was too late. Otherwise the tragedy might have been averted."

"After the shooting I saw Mrs. Callaux at the police station. She was violently agitated. I spoke with her and asked her to confide in me as a friend. She said she regretted the shooting. She had waited an hour she said before she was admitted to see Calmette. Previously she had had a report that private documents concerning herself and her husband were to be published. This was the reason why she had gone to Le Figaro office, she told me."

OUTING SUITS

It's time these Outings were on their way, so we're going to give every man who can use one the biggest snap he ever had the good fortune to run into.

The quality of the fabrics and the fine tailoring and good style of these garments are beyond question. They'll be just as desirable next summer as now, but our policy of a complete clearance forbids carrying a single one of them over.

So to finish them up as quickly as possible, we're willing to take a considerable, though perfectly legitimate and business-like, loss, knowing that the good will and good words of the men who get them will amply repay us in the end.

No other store would care to name such low prices on Outings of equal quality

By FRED HOEY.

Nothing that has occurred in tennis circles in years has created such a stir as the selection of Karl Behr as a member of the Davis Cup team. Behr is admittedly a high class tennis player but compared with the other men who have apparently been overlooked, he is shaded.

The only reason advanced to account for his selection by R. D. Wrenn, Slocumb and Adee of the Davis Cup committee is the fact that he has competed for America in the cup tourney in 1937.

Five men at present engaged in competition in the singles and doubles at Longwood are considered superior to Behr, yet the old Yale man was selected.

Two Coast boys, R. Lindsay Murray and William Johnson, present holder of the Longwood Challenge Trophy, are men rated as superior to Behr yet they were overlooked. There are Nat Niles, Theodore Rosenwald and Wallace Johnson, who in the opinion of players at Longwood could take the measure in either singles or pairs against him in the doubles.

The rain rain raised havoc with the schedule of yesterday's President's tennis tournament. The rain has prepared an attractive card for today, which will be carried through, weather permitting.

Of the singles men, Maurice E. McLaughlin and Thomas Bundy are the feature event.

Both men were on hand at the club yesterday but conditions were so bad that they devoted the afternoon to a game of pinocle.

The most important of the doubles tournament is slated for this afternoon. The winner of the Hackett-Alexander, Tallant-Johnson match will play W. J. Clotier and G. P. Gardner, Jr.

The match between Williams and Washburn, slated for 2 o'clock, is a very classy match. Both are Harvard winners in the cup tourney and the best uphill player brought to light so far.

The appointment of Walter G. Blane of Chelsea as trainer of the Davis Cup team was a popular one. Blane has been connected with the team for years. He is assistant trainer of the Yale athletic team.

"The men selected for the Davis Cup team are in good shape," declared Trainer Blane. "Bundy stands a little reducing, but he is fast enough to shape."

Williams doesn't vary four pounds from one end of the season to the other. The hard-playing Behr and McLaughlin are going through just the thing needed to keep them on edge.

THE DEFANCE IS WITHDRAWN FROM CUP RACES

NEW YORK, July 24.—Defiance, the ship built by a syndicate of New York, Boston and Philadelphia yachtsmen, to defend the America's cup, has withdrawn, leaving the Resolute and Vanitie to fight it out between them for the honor of racing Shamrock IV.

The thirty candidate, it was learned today, will be hailed out of City Island in a few days, her owners having come to the conclusion that it would be unwise to continue in the race as the boat is now rigged.

Formal announcement of the withdrawal, it is understood, has been made to the committee of the New York Yacht Club, who is the official chairman of the America's cup committee.

The reasons given are said to be that the owners are not satisfied with the latest construction and adjustments of the boat, and that it would take at least a month to make the changes they have in mind.

There is not time to do this and they have accordingly decided to do no more sailing this season.

SAILED IN HARD LUCK.

Although the Defiance at no time threatened the chances of the other candidates, the news of her withdrawal was a surprise. She was the second of the trip launched, taking the water on May 11.

She was built at the Bath Iron Works in Bath, Me., and designed by George Owen. The first cost is said to have been $150,000. While the Resolute and Vanitie are bronze hulled boats, the hull of the Defiance is of mahogany and is an exceptionally fine bit of workmanship.

Misfortune seemed to trail the Defiance from the first. She was unable to get into the early races on the Sound because of an accident to her bowsprit.

Her immediate single hand rig proved to be a strain and after a second mishap off Sandy Hook the bowsprit was taken off and the boat sailed as a ketch.

ONCE BETTER THAN THIRD.

She sailed her first race on June 24, finishing third. In all she sailed in nine races, withdrawing from three of the first contests off Newport, run on her aluminum hull.

On the way out and kept her out of the race.

The Defiance was third in all races in which she finished except one. That was in the New York Yacht Club's results on the Sound, when she placed first for second place with the aid of her allowance.

Kerr Makes Record in Burlington Golf

BURLINGTON, Vt., July 24.—The first of the three days play in the State golf tournament today at the banked links was featured by some excellent scores. The event was won by Walter Kerr, a White Mountain local man, in a great race.

Kerr's score was 68, which was the lowest in the field. He was the only one to break 70 in the three days.

The I. A. A. A. second, P. L. McGrath of the I. A. A. A. was an easy winner in the mile run, and Henry Douthett of the I. A. A. A. took first place in the 100-yard dash.

W. B. Colquhoun of the I. A. A. A. came home in the high jump, with W. P. McCormack of the same organization a close second.

OVER THE PLATE

By NICK FLATLEY

TODAY the Red Sox are off for the West. They play sixteen games in all on the foreign trails. When they return home, they will either be out of the scrap for the gonfalon or so much in it that only the end of the schedule will bring about a decision. They have started on the trip in the best of shape. All the regulars except Steve Yarnes are fit as fiddlers. There are in second place after a fairly successful home stand. The return of Joe Wood and Harry Hooper, as well as the addition of Dick Hobbs, have injected the necessary cayenne into the ranks to start better. Everything is lined up for a sweep on the road and then a dash for the flag.

GOLDEN WHEEL 50-MILE RACE AT BEACH OVAL

By RINGSIDE

THERE will be another double-windup at the University Club in Cambridge tonight. Eddie Flynn, the Lynn lightweight, who fights almost as often as Battling Levinsky, will clash with Jack Coyne of Orange, N. J., while Terry Brooks, the West Point's best little box fighter, will exchange blows with "Fighting" Joe Hyland, of New York, who does not conceal the fact that he is a sweet puncher.

Both of these bouts are scheduled for twelve rounds and should furnish the "fans" with plenty of action. Coyne has never boxed here before, but it is said that he is a good performer. Flynn, however, expects to give him a warm reception. Eddie will probably take a short lay-off after tonight's encounter as he has been meeting all-comers during the past few months.

Brooks and Hyland should put up a slugging match, as both boys delight in exchanging punches at close quarters. Brooks is in the condition again, as he proved when he boxed Andy Cortes in a ten-round tussle at the Atlas A. last Tuesday night.

There will be the usual preliminary bouts between local boxes.

Between the Rounds

By RINGSIDE

GILBERT GALLANT, Chelsea's best bet in the boxing game, and Eddie Murphy, of South Boston, will probably clash at the Atlas A. A. in the near future. Gallant and Murphy both attempted to secure bouts with Matty Baldwin, but the Bunker Hill veteran refused to sign for a contest with either of these rugged fighters. Consequently they will probably get together and engage in a little game of catfights at the Arena. The winner will then be in a position to demand a whirl with Baldwin for the lightweight championship of New England.

ALEX McLEAN, manager of Gallant, still believes that his protégé is a better boxer than Baldwin and contends that Gallant will be able to defeat Matty if the two boys should meet again. McLean said today:

"Gallant easily won from Eddie Murphy, and I know of no reason why he should not be able to dispose of Baldwin. Matty is a grand fighter, but I do not consider him a better performer than Murphy. Gallant lost to Baldwin by taking things easy in the first five rounds and permitting Matty to gain an early lead. If Baldwin clashes with Gallant again, it will be a different story as the Chelsea boy will start after his opponent in the opening rounds and the referee's task will not be

RED SOX OUT TO TAKE LEAD
IN TRIP WEST

By NICK FLATLEY.

Though the storm rained down a great chance to pick up a couple of games from the shattered Browns yesterday, the Red Sox are off for the West coast full of confidence and ready to give all hostiles a run for their money.

The jump into second place, despite the fact that the Athletics' lead is greater than it has been for a month, is like magic on the spirits of the Carriagen clan.

From manager down to the latest recruit, the squad has the permanent, or the same small margin to the rear, the players have a chance to draw a breath and realize that perhaps the only real obstacle in their path to world series profits nowadays is the Athletics' outfit.

Six and a half games is a mighty big gap to close up but what has been done can be undone. In the season the Sox have opened up this advantage and in the remaining days the Red Sox can chop it down if they keep to the grindstone.

During the early days of the season the Lannin lads were more or less unfortunate. Up to the present there has not been a time all season when some of the stars were not out of the game.

STARS IN SHAPE.

Today, however, all the big lights are shining again, except George Foster. The young slugger, who recovered from a bad knee in one of the five players left at home, is back at his best and is a big factor in the long haul.

The light catchers were in good shape. Manager Carrigan figured that the younger men would better off at Fenway Park, where he could work them better. He sent them to the practice field, where he could see them. He is naturally right.

The fact that the Boston Braves will be out of the game as the spinning he received Wednesday proved more serious than was at first supposed. However, the Janis-Hobbs combination on the right line of the diamond looked fast enough to keep the team keyed up to last interest pitch.

A couple picked for the foreign invasion numbered twenty-two players.

Pitchers—Wood, Leonard, Bodiet, Thorne, Collins, Coughlin, Coughlin and Nuth.

Catchers—Carrigan, Cady and Thorne.

Infielders—Janis, Yerkes, Hooper, Redwell, Scott and Gardner.

Outfielders—Lewis, Speaker, Egan, and Thorne.

This present jump around the world and weary campaign was a great deal for the Red Sox. If they can make a good showing they will come home for a stand of more than twenty games right on the heels of the leaders.

OPEN WITH NAPS.

From the way they have been showing in the last week or two they should give a mighty good account of themselves.

Their first game will be in Cleveland. Last time they stopped in the Ohio city they cleaned up four in a row. They repeated the dose when the Naps came to Boston. A third game for good measure will fill their cup to the brim and help a lot in the climb toward the lead.

After the Naps they stop off at Chicago for two days. Hereafter for the White Sox have been the fly in the Red Sox's ointment. They are not for the Calhoun calamities on two occasions. Carrigan and company would not be so close to the leading place that a game might put them there.

The Chicago crew, however, have been going at a less remarkable clip of late than was there on the two latter occasions of Red Sox clothes. Consequently, if the downward trend continues here, may be some chance for a gain in the Windy City.

At Montreal, where Detroit will round out the journey. In both places, their last spring season, the Red Sox made hay. If they repeat, they will be on their way to Fenway Park August 12 as a welcome that will raise the roof and send the Red Sox going at a pennant clip.

The Athletics play the same teams as the Sox in the next twenty days and as the former have a slight edge on road work for the season, they ought to climb if they run true to form.

RECORD FOR BRAVES.

BRAVES HOME IN 4TH PLACE AND A RECORD

The Braves are on their home pastures today, resting on their well-earned honors, with fourth place safely within their grasp and a record for the National League hanging to their belts.

The Stallions boys played great ball during their Western trip, but their work in the final series against the Pittsburgh Pirates was the star performance when they shut out the Dreyfus team four games out of the five played, a feat never before duplicated in the Smokey City.

The Boston boys lay off today but tomorrow they open a hard series against Hank O'Day's Chicago Cubs. The Chicago team will present a strengthened infield. Claude Derrick, who was secured from Cincinnati in trade for Fred McInnis, will be at short. He is a heavy hitter and has headed the entire aggregation and it is likely to be a real pennant winner.
